

1. LEGISLATION
1.1 Structural Indicators	YES	NO	DESCRIPTION	SOURCE
Indicator
Incorporation of Belem do Para in domestic law (at the constitutional, supralegal or legal level) R1			The Constitution of Barbados guarantees most of the basic fundamental rights and freedoms which the Belem do Para outlines	The Barbados Constitution
Enactment of specific legislation on different forms of violence including: Trafficking in girls and adolescents, adult women and elderly women R2			Parliament passed the transnational organised Crime (Prevention and Control) Act in 2011.	Transnational Organised Crime (Prevention and Control) Act 2011
Forced prostitution (per rome statute) R2			The Sexual Offences Act (1992) makes provision for crimes involving prostitution.	Sexual Offences Act (1992) Cap. 154 SS 14-15
Action protocols for justice operators, health (service provider) teachers and public officials in connection with different forms of violence. R10, R11, R15, R27			The National Task on Human Trafficking has developed a National Workplan to address this issue. Part of the plan has been the development of a protocol on human trafficking which guided the response of various institutions to any incidences on human trafficking.	National Task Force on Human Trafficking (Bureau of Gender Affairs).
1.2 Process Indicators
Indicator
Convention of Belem Do Para ratification processes
Existence of systematic training, staff training and awareness of the public sector officials on the legal tools of punishment, protection and promotion of women's rights, particularly the right to a life free of violence. R19			The staging of a number of gender awareness training workshops annually by the B.G.Affairs. These workshops target public officials and incorporate a legal aspect of domestic violence in that participants are exposed to the contents of the Domestic Violence (Protection Orders) Act. Approximately 500 public officers have accessed this training for every workshop, participants are given an opportunity to evaluate the workshops by way of evaluation forms. The participants are also provided with literature on issues related to gender and gender based violence.

2. National Plans
2.1 Structural	YES	NO
Indicator
National Plan, policy action, strategy for the prevention , attention and eradication of violence against girls and adolescents, adult women and elderly women in its different forms. Scope and characteristics considering girls and adolescents, adult women and elderly women who are ethnically diverse, afro-descendants, rural with disabilities , with different sexual preferences, by their sexual identity, migrants, refugees, displaced persons or deprived of their freedom. R17			Establishment of Revision of the Domestic Violence Protection Orders (Act). Recommendations to amend certain aspects of the legislation to provide for greater and wider enforcement of the legislation. Cabinet approval of recommendations.
Qualitative signs of Progress
Number and characteristics of civil society organisations involved in the promotion and protection of the right to a life without violence, considering organisations involved with idigenous girls and adolescents. Adult women and elderly women, Afro-descendants, rural, with disabilities, with different sexual preferences, by their sexual identity, migrants, refugees, displaced person or deprived of their freedom. Indicate forms and type of organisation.			Three major organisations which include the SAVE Foundation, the National Organisation of Women and the Business and Professional Women's Club. All are non-governmental organisations in collaboration with the Bureau of Gender Affairs.
2.1 Structural State Capacities
	YES	NO	DESCRIPTION	SOURCE
Indicator
Number of shelters and homes for victims of violence against women and their children. R26, R30			1 Shelter owned by Government Day to day running provided by Non-Governmental Organisations.	Bureau of Gender Affairs
Number of public or state supported legal services specialising in women affected by violence. R223, R30.			The Office of the Attorney General provides the funding for free legal services for the victims of violence under Head 30, Sub-program 0251, Community Legal Services Commission. This sub-program provides	Ministry of Finance for the payment of legal fees for criminal and civil cases and payments for victims of crime. These funds are provided in the Estimates of Expenditure.

2.2 State Capacities
Indicator
Accessibility and availability of care services for victims			Access to eight (8) polyclinics throughout the country.
of different forms of violence by jurisdiction and			Services at these polyclinics are free.
geographical region. R23				